Overview

In this article, you will learn about Sellercloud's Products By Component reports.

Products by Component reports provide valuable insights into the performance of products. They are most helpful for tracking sales of products as components of kits, but you will also see the quantity sold as regular products. The reports also include sales of components in independent kits.

In contrast to other sales reports that display kit parents as the sold item, these reports are focused on the sales and trends of individual items, whether they were sold as a simple product or part of a kit. For more information about Sellercloud's Financial Reporting Suite, see the Reports FAQ.

Products by Component Reports

The Products By Component category includes the following reports:

- Qty By Component Summary – summarizes the total quantity sold for each product.
- Qty By Component Detail – provides additional order details around the total quantity sold for each product.
- Qty Sold By Channel \(By Component\) – shows the total product quantity sold as a kit component on each channel in a specific period.
- Qty Sold By Warehouse \(By Component\) – provides information about the total product quantity sold as a kit component from each warehouse in a specific period.

These four reports provide a comprehensive view of kit component product sales.
